TO INCREASE REVENUES

Hon. Harter's Plan for Replenishing Our Treasury.

He Would Increase the Tax on Whisky, Beer, Tobacco and Cigars, and Kill the Free Silver Movement.

MANSFIELD, Ohio, May 25 —Hon. Michael L. Harter gave his views at great length today on the issues which confront the people, in view of the recent decision in the income tax cases. He has a plan for the raising of revenue, which, he thinks, will save the financial department of the government from embarrassment. "The tax of all kinds, or of nearly all kinds of tobacco, should be increased to where the result will be an increase of revenue from this source of not less than $15,000,000. The tax on beer should be increased $30,000,000, which would not result in any decrease in the size of the glass or increase in the cost to the drinker. The whisky tax, already high, should be enlarged enough to add to the revenue from this source about $15,000,000. Tea and coffee should be taxed enough to cost the customer about one mill per cup or a cent for each ten cups, which tax would bring in about $30,000,000 in ordinary years. Here you have an increase in the income of the United States of $90,000,000 without putting a noticeable burden upon anybody. With this simple legislation our deficiency would be transferred into a wholesome surplus of $40 000,000 and no calling or industry would suffer and no individual citizen would have any just ground for complaint. It is but fair to say that if the McKinley bill had not placed sugar on the free list and granted an outrageous bounty to the growers of sugar, for the sake of increasing the already scandalously high discriminating tariff taxes, which go into private pockets instead of the public treasury, we would in the past four years have had $240,000,000 more revenue, and instead of an increased debt approximating $160 000,000 on June 30, 1895, would have shown about $80,000,000 surplus and a gold reserve of about $170,000,000, with no increase of public liabilities. In other words, but for the wretched measure known as the McKinley bill Mr. Cleveland would be buying in and cancelling, instead of selling, United States bonds. Mr. Cleveland's course in the sale of bonds was forced upon him, and the skill and sound sense he has displayed in the matter are deserving of the highest price. I feel that the party, if any, which boldly declares for free coinage at 16 to 1, would do well to buy a coffin and order a shroud. However, with all the noise and uproar the net result will, I fear, be a couple of sneaking, dodging platforms, facing both ways, a kind of political trap to catch the vote a going or a coming. If either party has the courage and intelligence to adopt a fair, square, unmistakable plank which will demand a dollar for the workingman worth at all times and everywhere 100 cents in gold, it will have a walk over in 1896."

SHOT HERSELF.

Preferred a Violent Death to Lingering Illness.

Mrs. Victoria Machen, Widow of the Late Senator From Kentucky, Commits Suicide.

CLINTON, Ky., May 24.—Mrs. Victoria Machen, widow of the late United States Senator Willis B. Machen, committed suicide at the home of her sister in this city today, by shooting herself through the head with a pistol. She was discovered at an early hour by her aged mother in an outhouse, and it is thought the deed was committed about daylight. Mrs. Machen has large landed interests in Lyon county, but her health has been bad for some time and she has lived with her sister here since last fall. Suffering probably unbalanced her mind. Senator Machen was appointed by Governor Leslie and served one term.

SHEERIN FOR SOUND MONEY.

He Thinks the Indiana Democrats Will "Come Around."

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 24 —S. P. Sheerin, of Logansport, secretary of the democratic national committee, who was here on business, announces that he is for "honest money."

"I feel that Indiana will come around all right on the currency question," said he. "I mean by that, that I believe the state will stand for honest money, for I am an 'honest money, democrat. I take no stock in this agitation for the free coinage of silver. I believe the craze will soon have run its course. I have a great trust in the good sense of the people."

"Is the national committee doing anything?"

"We are not doing anything at this time."

Mr. Sheerin said he had no special knowledge of republican affairs, and had nothing to say about Harrison's probable candidacy.

COUNTRY BANKS TO BEAT IT.

Scheme to Shift Loss Caused by Bogus Checks May Not Carry.

NEW YORK, May 24.—The attempt which the Clearing House association made at a meeting held about a month ago to shift the responsibility for loss from fraudulent checks from the bank on which the check is drawn to the bank first accepting it for collection has apparently fallen through. When this change was taken into consideration of the clearing house committee in the form of a proposed amendment to the by-laws of the association the country bankers saw at once that they were sure to be the main sufferers by the adoption of such a rule. Then arose a storm of objections from the country banks as soon as they learned of the plan and they brought pressure to bear upon the New York banks acting as their correspondents to defeat the proposed scheme. At yesterday's clearing house meeting it was evident that there was a general disposition among the members to gain time, and, in fact, to get out of the bad situation as gracefully as possible. It is generally believed that the country banks have defeated the plan.

WHEAT STILL RESTLESS.

Fluctuates Between Seventy-seven and Seventy-nine Cents.

Brokers See the Danger of a Runaway Market and Endeavor to Prevent a Repetition of Yesterday's Scene.

CHICAGO, May 24 —The wheat market opened excited and irregular today. Traders were at sea as to the probable course of the market. On the curb and the open board early sales had been at 78½c for July, against 78¾c at the close yesterday, and sold up to 79¼c. Out of the bedlam of the pit at the opening of the regular board, came the figures 78¾@79c for July, and that was the top price in the early trading. The early news was mostly of a bearish character. Liverpool was 2 pence lower and slow, though London reported cargoes higher, and some English country sales were reported at 6 pence advance. Continental cables were also higher. On the other hand, indications of rain were reported early in the west, though later advices said that these indications were only slight and not in the belt, where drought conditions remained unbroken, and numerous crop damage reports were received later. These bullish reports did not affect the early trading, though they caused a rally later. The bear influence prevailed at the outset. Brokers saw the dangers of such a runaway market as that of yesterday and were advising customers to go slow. As a consequence, early trading brought out many stop loss orders, as wheat slumped off under free selling by longs, and as the shorts were about all in, the market was unsupported. July soon dropped to 77⅝c, fluctuated between 77½c and 78c, and when the very bad crop reports came, advanced to 79 and eased off to 78⅝. July corn opened ⅜ lower at 54⅝ and sold off, with wheat, to 53, rallied to 54 and weakened to 53⅞. July oats opened ⅜ lower at 31, dropped to 30 and rallied to 30⅝. July pork opened 30 cents lower on the heavy receipts of hogs and the break in corn. First quotations were $12 30; then the price went to $12 50, but dropped to $12.20, firming up to $12 25. September lard sold at $6 80@6 82½. July ribs were quotable at $6 25@6 27½.

The wheat market later turned up to 79¼c. Then for a long time it wabbled lazily between 78⅜c and 79c. The volume of trading was very much reduced in comparison with the business done during the past few days and at times the market was actually dull, though the pit remained full of brokers on the alert for the unexpected. The weakness in corn was partly due to the selling of about 1,000,000 bushels by Baldwin & Farnum. The cash trade in wheat, corn and provisions was large.

NEW YORK, May 24.—Wheat transactions up to noon today was just 5,530,000 bushels, or about 13,000,000 less than they were yesterday morning. Prices, however, danced about in a very lively way. July opened from 81c to 81½c in various parts of the pit and dropped like a plummet to 80⅛c. This looked like further realizing by the country and the bears were in great glee, predicting a great smash in prices. Their joy was short lived, for with a quick rush prices shot up to 81⅝c on fresh outside buying, then lost ⅛c and was dull at midday.

Oats, May, 29¼c; June, 29⅛c; July, 29c; Sept., 29¼c.

Ira C. Jackson, an aged citizen, residing at 82 South Wayne avenue, this morning had a fainting spell while crossing Calhoun street, near the court house. He fell and struck his head on the curbing, inflicting a bad cut. The injured man was carried into the court house yard by Val Gutermuth and Mike Burns. Dr. Stemen was called and later the old gentleman was removed to his home. The wound is not serious.

Mrs. Benjamin Meiser, one of the ladies slightly bruised during the runaway accident on Wednesday, was reported dead this morning. She resides north of the city, but the report is not believed, as the coroner or none of the undertakers have been notified. Mrs. Lemay is still alive, but said to be sinking slowly and may not survive the night.

This morning at the Standard Wheel works Thomas Chorping, of 407 South Clinton street, had three fingers of his right hand fearfully mangled by a saw. Drs Miller and Browand attended.

STRIKES ENDED.

Miners in the Pittsburg District Give Up the Fight

And Return to Work at the Operators' Terms—The Hod Carriers Also Declare Their Strike Off.

PITTSBURG PA, May 24 —The miners' strike of the Pittsburg district is practically ended, and the strikers will go back to work at the operator's terms, sixty cents per ton.

ST LOUIS, Mo, May 24.—The Master Bricklayer's association has received communications from the Hod Carriers' unions Nos. 2 and 3, officially declaring off the strike which began several weeks ago and affected 1,500 men. Union No. 1 is still out.

CHICAGO, May 24 —The striking brick makers have appealed to the Bricklayers' union for aid in their fight against the bosses who have refused to pay the union scale. The strike situation now promises to take a peculiar turn. At the bricklayers' meeting to night it is understood that a resolution will be passed which practically means a boycott of all but union made brick. A great majority of brick manufacturers are in favor of the union scale of wages, and it is probable that the union yards will begin operations again next week, while the non-union yards will have to quit. The strikers made threatening demonstrations at two or three points today where brick were being unloaded from cars, but were dispersed by the police.

EJECTING SETTLERS.

Indian Agent Beck Driving Them Off the Winnebago.

Some of the Cattle Men Show Fight and Bloodshed Will Follow a Rigid Enforcement of the Order.

PENDER, Neb., May 24 —Indian Agent Beck has positively commenced the ejectment of settlers occupying the lands of the Flourney company on the Winnebago reservation. O. E. Anderson, Peter Bloome and William Berg, residing in the vicinity of Wakefield, Neb., were removed yesterday afternoon by sixteen Indian police, armed to the teeth. Captain Beck has served notice that other settlers must go and will continue eviction today. It is thought there would be an attempt to put off the cattle in Dick Kelly's pasture this afternoon, but it has not yet been attempted. If the attempt is made there will surely be bloodshed, as Kelly has threatened to shoot the first red skin that comes inside of his pasture for that purpose. He is a dare devil sort of a fellow and likely to make his threat good. There is no excitement here whatever, as it is not generally believed that the agent will use force. Those who have been ousted by the police were merely told to get off, and when they refused were not molested.

MISSIONARY WORK.

Cleveland Catholics Inaugurate a New Plan of Operation.

The Movement is Patterned After the Salvation Army, and the Clergy Are Enthusiastic Over It.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, May 25 —Catholic missionary workers are about to start a movement of the greatest importance among the masses of population in this city. It might be called a Catholic Salvation Army movement, except that some of the odd features of the Salvation Army will be omitted. The missionaries have the indorsement of Bishop Horstmann, of this diocese, to the plan of street work and meetings will soon be begun on the street corners and curbs. An organization will be formed and as soon as practicable will be made national and extended to all the great cities of the country. So enthusiastic are the local Catholic clergy that several will resign from their parishes to engage in the street work.

WILLIAMS RETIRES.

The New York Police Inspector Steps Down and Out.

A Rumor Current in New York That the Police Board Will Remove Superintendent Byrnes.

NEW YORK, May 24.—Police Inspector Williams has been retired from the force upon his own application.

NEW YORK, May 24.—An afternoon paper makes the statement that the police board has determined to remove Superintendent Byrnes and Inspector Williams, and to institute a thorough reorganization of the police department.

ROYAL ARCANUM.

The Annual Session of the Supreme Council Ended.

Arkansas Granted the Privilege of Doubling Her Membership—The Next Meeting at Savannah.

ST. LOUIS, May 24 —The annual session of the supreme council of the Royal Arcanum closed today after the longest session in the history of the order, ten days having been spent in its work in this city. Today's session was chiefly devoted to the installation of the newly elected supreme officers and in leave taking. The Arkansas question has been settled for the time being by the granting of permission for all Arkansas councils to double their present membership. This permission did not include Helena. Supreme Medical Examiner in Chief Styer was instructed to make a thorough investigation of the climatic conditions of the state and to report at the next session of the supreme council at Savanah, Ga.

QUEEN VICTORIA.

England Celebrates Her Majesty's Birthday.

The Royal Lady Arrives at the Seventy-sixth Milestone on Life's Highway.

LONDON, May 24 —The seventy-sixth birthday of Queen Victoria was observed today at all the naval and military stations, with the exception of the city, by the usual display of flags, trooping of the colors, etc. In London the celebration of her majesty's birthday will be observed tomorrow with the trooping of colors at Whitehall, ministerial dinners, etc.

WINDSOR, Ont, May 24 —Windsor's streets were crowded today with many thousands of loyal subjects who are taking part in the celebration of the queen's birthday. The parade, which was made shortly before noon, was an imposing military spectacle. The center of attraction was the Forty-eighth regiment of Highlanders, eight companies strong. Their novel appearance in full Highlander's uniform and their soldierly bearing called out plaudits of the crowds.

The king's troops of cavalry, 21st Essex fusiliers, and several local and cadet companies, with several cornet and pipers bands, completed the parade, which was wholly of a military character. The highlanders' regiment is encamped on the race track grounds, where sports of various kinds were enjoyed this afternoon. Several Canadian notables are present and the revenue cutter Petrel, gaily decked, is anchored in front of the city. The celebration will last throughout tomorrow.

CHICAGO'S CANAL.

The Legislature Makes It Possible to Complete It.

CHICAGO, May 24 —The enlarged taxing powers for the next three years just given by the legislature to the trustees of the Chicago drainage district by the bill now awaiting Governor Altgeld's signature, insure the prompt completion of the main channel, and it is now expected that water will be turned into the channel early in 1897. The additional 1 per cent. levy will give the board additional funds available for immediate use to the amount of nearly $2,500,000 per annum, based on the present assessed valuation. This additional leeway from current taxes renders it improbable that any more bonds will ever be issued by the sanitary district of Chicago. And in any event the amount of such additional bonds, if any should be issued within the next few years, would necessarily be small by reason of the 5 per cent. constitutional limit. Whatever may be Governor Altgeld's views on the measure, the unusually heavy vote, 124 to 7, by which it passed the house makes it certain that he will affix his signature promptly.

EX-SEC. M'CULLOCH

Dies at His Home Near Washington, D. C.

His Long and Busy Career—Served in Three Cabinets—No Arrangements for the Funeral.

Ex-Secretary of the Treasury Hugh McCulloch, father of Charles McCulloch, of this city, died at his country home, near Washington, D C, at 2.40 o'clock this morning

Charles McCulloch was summoned to Washington several days ago by a telegram announcing that his father was critically ill. The patient rallied, however, but has been hovering between life and death ever since his son's arrival. The deceased was just past his eighty-sixth birthday and the cause of death was a general breaking down of the system. Mr. McCulloch was in a comatose state when death came. His two sons, one daughter and a grandson were at his bedside when the end came.

Besides a wife, the deceased leaves two sons, Charles, of this city, and Fred H., of Virginia; Mrs Louise Yale and Miss Mary.

An Associated Press dispatch to THE SENTINEL at 1 o'clock stated that no arrangements have yet been made for the funeral, and probably none will be made until the arrival of Miss Mary. She sailed for New York on the 18th, and will probably reach Washington either today or tomorrow.

It will be remembered that she was en route on a trip around the world with J. Ross McCulloch, her nephew, of this city.

Mr. McCulloch was the son of Hugh McCulloch, of Kennebunk, Maine, who was in his day one of the most enterprising and, at one time, one of the largest ship owners in New England, and who, like others in that business, suffered by the war of 1812. Owing to these reverses Hugh, who was one of the youngest of a large family, found himself as he approached to manhood dependent upon his own exertions for making headway in the world. He had received, however, the necessary preparatory education, and he entered Bowdoin college in 1824 graduating in 1826. After leaving college he taught school until he had saved money enough to cover the expenses of a course of legal studies, which he completed in Boston in 1832. In April, 1833, he came west, and after spending a few weeks in Madison, Ind, in the office of Jeremiah Sullivan, to acquaint himself with the statutes of the state, he went to Indianapolis, and upon examination was licensed to practice law in the supreme and inferior courts of the state. From Indianapolis he went to the lake, and after traversing, alone and on horseback, the northern part of the state, which was at that time, as he has described it, a magnificent wilderness, he reached Fort Wayne, then little more than an Indian trading post, through which the Wabash and Erie canal was being constructed, and where, as there seemed to be a good future before it, he determined to remain. The State Bank of Indiana, chartered in 1833, was organized for business in 1834. In 1835 a branch was established at Fort Wayne, and Mr. McCulloch was appointed its cashier and manager. In 1837 he became, as the representative of the branch, a member of the board of control or director of the State bank, which position he held in connection with the cashiership of the Fort Wayne branch, until the expiration of the charter, in 1857. In the winter of 1855 and 1856, in anticipation of the expiration of the charter of the State bank, another bank was organized, to go into operation on the 1st of January, 1857, under the name of the 'Bank of the State of Indiana," with twenty branches, and an authorized capital of $6 000,000, one-half of which was paid in. Of this bank, Mr. McCulloch was, in 1856, elected president by the unanimous vote and held the position until April, 1863, when he resigned to accept the office of comptroller of the currency, which was strongly pressed upon him by Mr. Lincoln and Mr. Chase. He entered upon its duties and was the means of putting our national banking system on a successful footing. In March, 1865, upon the resignation of Mr. Fessenden, Mr. Lincoln tendered to Mr. McCulloch the office of secretary of the treasury. As the office was neither solicited nor desired, the action of Mr. Lincoln in offering to him the most important and responsible office in the government was a very gratifying recognition by the president of his financial ability, and of the value of the services he had rendered as comptroller of the currency. Mr. McCulloch resigned his office at the close of Mr. Johnson's administration on the 3d of March, 1869, and gave himself the rest which he required after six years of hard and unremitting labor. In November, 1870, he went to London and organized the banking house of Jay Cooke, McCulloch & Co, which did a very large and profitable business. In January, 1874 the London partners of Jay Cooke, McCulloch & Co, were joined by Hon R L. Melville, a gentleman of means and ability and high social position, and a new firm was formed, under the name of McCulloch & Co. The years following were divided between London and New York in looking after the interests of his firm, until during the latter part of President Arthur's administration he was again asked to take charge of the portfolio of the treasury, made vacant by the resignation of Judge Walter Q. Gresham. He occupied the position till the inauguration of President Cleveland. Since that time Mr. McCulloch has lived a retired life at his country home "Holly Hill" in Prince George county, Maryland, a few miles distant from Washington, devoting himself to literary pursuits and to the care of large landed estates in Maryland and Virginia.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR.

Rev. J. S. Ainslie Talks to Them on Knightly Virtues.

Interesting Ascension Day Services at the Plymouth Congregational Church—Masterly Discourse.

Ascension day was observed appropriately yesterday by the local Knights Templar, who marched in a body to the Plymouth Congregational church at 7:30 p. m. and listened to a splendid discourse by Rev J S Ainslie. After reading the beautiful service of the order, interspersed with singing by the choir, and a solo and by Mrs Culbertson, Rev. Ainslie began his address by saying that he was glad that the church universal was every year giving more attention to the observance of Ascension day. He thought this right and proper that the day should have a significance to the entire Christian world equal to that of Easter. The life of Christ did not end with the crucifixion, but for forty days after His forthcoming from the tomb we have abundant historical evidence of the wonderful life just previous to the last scene, when, from amid his sorrowing desciples, the Savior of the world was caught up in a cloud and borne aloft to Heaven. Just at this final mystery in his great life, Christ gave a commission to his fishermen desciples, which has been a commission to the whole world: "Go ye forth in the world, teaching in my name and lo, I am with you all days, even unto the end of the world."

Rev. Ainslie then sketched briefly the work done by the early disciples in spreading the gospel, and how, up to the fourth century, nearly the entire civilized world had come to accept Christ. Then ecclesiastic strife brought on the dark ages which continued until the great revival, which had its rise at the beginning of the first crusade.

About the year 1094 A. D, a man of small stature, clad in the garb of a monk, might have been seen riding a mule over that region north of the Alps. The man had once been a soldier, but wearying of the bloody strife had repented and entered upon a religious life. But the old spirit of war burned in his bosom and, when pilgrims came from the Holy Land with tales of the cruelties of the heathens, the monk determined to march an army to rescue the holy sepulchre from their hostile hands. That monk was Peter, the Hermit, and the epoch in which he lived was the grandest of medieval history. The war cry of Peter was "To the rescue—it is God's will." He tore into strips his red scarf and his enthusiastic followers pinned red crosses upon their arms. This was the birth of the Order of Knights Templar.

Then began that holy war in which 60,000 men, the flower of Europe, marched to the east and wrenched the tombs of the saints from the heathen.

Chivalry, valor, truth and honor bound together that great army. Peter designed a five pointed star which was worn upon the breasts of his soldiers. Each point of the star represented some manly quality. The first was truth, the second purity, the third courtesy, the fourth patience and the fifth valor.

Under each one of these heads Rev Ainslie spoke of the qualities which went to make up a true knight, enlarging upon these special virtues which the Order of Knights Templar seek to emulate.

Rev. Ainslie's address was a masterly effort and was appreciated by the large audience present.

THE LABOR FAIR.

Another Large Crowd in Attendance Last Evening.

Latest News Concerning the Voting for the Various Prizes—Attractions for the Rest of the Week.

The attendance at the labor fair last night was one of the largest since it opened and the interest displayed by the visitors was ample evidence that the many attractive features were highly appreciated by the crowd

The numerous contests are beginning to get decidedly interesting for the audiences as well as the contestants, and the hustling abilities of the workers shows that a high degree of enthusiasm prevails

The contest for a full set of dishes will be decided tonight, the contestants being Rosanette Kellor and Maggie McVey, and the friends of each are hopeful of their favorite coming out ahead.

The fishing tackle contest between Charles Hockemeyer, William McWhorter and Christ Witte will be decided this evening.

Tomorrow night the dining room set will be voted for, Joseph Druhot and Mrs. L. C. Kasten being in the race. Up to last night this contest has been attracting the most prominent attention.

The fine Blickensderfer typewriter contributed by Dixon Edgerton to the fair had, up to last night, attracted no attention and was not even on the boards to be contested for, but a sudden spirit of contest developed last evening and the typewriter contest started off with a boom, three of the most prominent labor unions of the city entering the fight, the Typographical union, Working Girls' union and Machinists' union. It is expected that by this evening the Browers, Butchers and Cigarmakers will be added to the list, and the battle will assume interesting proportions. The typewriter is a prize worth striving for, and there is reason to suppose that there is sufficient pride in each of the organizations named to impel them to make a grand effort to be victorious when the fair closes on next Monday night, to which time it has been extended

The First Regiment band furnished the music, and after 11 o'clock the vast audience danced until the clock struck 12, when the pleasures of the evening ended.

In the midst of the festivities last evening Mr. Henry Koch, the well known cigarmaker, who was in the contest for the fishing tackle, received a telegram from Cincinnati announcing the death of his mother, and as he found it necessary to leave for that place to attend the funeral, he withdrew from the race. A big crowd is expected tonight.

PELTED WITH EGGS.

A Drunken Man Makes Things Lively for Dan Gorman.

Quite a Number of Prisoners on Trial at Police Court This Morning—A Friendless Girl.

Charles Daugherty, a well known character about town, got on a drunk, yesterday afternoon, on Main street and started out to have some fun with his enemy, Daniel Gorman, the fish dealer

Dougherty entered the market and, picking up some eggs which were lying on the counter, began to throw them at Gorman. The nutritious fusilade caused the fish monger to beat a rapid retreat into the rear of the establishment. The doughty Daugherty, however, kept firing random showers of eggs at the proprietor and enjoyed the sport. The police were notified and Officer Hines, who made the arrest, had considerable difficulty in persuading the drunken man that he was violating the peace and dignity of that part of the city. This morning Mayor Oakley sent the prisoner to jail for fifteen days.

This morning about 2 o'clock Officers Buchner and Richardson arrested two vagrants on Williams street, where they had broken into an unoccupied house and were lying in a drunken stupor. They gave the names of John Martin and Anthony Rosenberger. Both were sent to jail for fifteen days.

Charles Bennet was a plain, drunken vag arrested yesterday afternoon at the south depot by Officer Phipps. The man was begging and acting in an insulting manner. He was sent over for fifteen days.

John Bennett and Jennie Boyles were arrested on the river bank back of the crematory last evening about 9 o'clock by the sheriff and his deputies. Both were locked up charged with prostitution. This morning Mayor Oakley sent both to jail for twenty days.

Joseph Miller was a plain drunk who was picked up on Spy Run avenue in a state of intoxication. He was sent to jail.

Last evening Officer Hardendorf found a seventeen year-old girl at the Nickel Plate depot who had been sent here from Latta, O., by the township trustee. The girl was an orphan and was looking for work. She was allowed to stay at the station house all night and this morning was turned over to Humane Officer Schlaudroff, who found her a place to work. The girl gave the name of Rose Wagner.

TO INCREASE REVENUES

Hon. Harter's Plan for Replenishing Our Treasury.

He Would Increase the Tax on Whisky, Beer, Tobacco and Cigars, and Kill the Free Silver Movement.

MANSFIELD, Ohio, May 25.—Hon. Michael L. Harter gave his views at great length today on the issues which confront the people, in view of the recent decision in the income tax cases. He has a plan for the raising of revenue, which, he thinks, will save the financial department of the government from embarrassment. "The tax of all kinds, or of nearly all kinds of tobacco, should be increased to where the result will be an increase of revenue from this source of not less than $15,000,000. The tax on beer should be increased $30,000,000, which would not result in any decrease in the size of the glass or increase in the cost to the drinker. The whisky tax, already high, should be enlarged enough to add to the revenue from this source about $15,000,000. Tea and coffee should be taxed enough to cost the customer about one mill per cup or a cent for each ten cups, which tax would bring in about $30,000,000 in ordinary years. Here you have an increase in the income of the United States of $90,000,000 without putting a noticeable burden upon anybody. With this simple legislation our deficiency would be transferred into a wholesome surplus of $40,000,000 and no calling or industry would suffer and no individual citizen would have any just ground for complaint. It is but fair to say that if the McKinley bill had not placed sugar on the free list and granted an outrageous bounty to the growers of sugar, for the sake of increasing the already scandalously high discriminating tariff taxes, which go into private pockets instead of the public treasury, we would in the past four years have had $240,000,000 more revenue, and instead of an increased debt approximating $160,000,000 on June 30, 1895, would have shown about $80,000,000 surplus and a gold reserve of about $170,000,000, with no increase of public liabilities. In other words, but for the wretched measure known as the McKinley bill Mr. Cleveland would be buying in and cancelling, instead of selling, United States bonds. Mr. Cleveland's course in the sale of bonds was forced upon him, and the skill and sound sense he has displayed in the matter are deserving of the highest praise. I feel that the party, if any, which boldly declares for free coinage at 16 to 1, would do well to buy a coffin and order a shroud. However, with all the noise and uproar the net result will, I fear, be a couple of sneaking, dodging platforms, facing both ways, a kind of political trap to catch the vote a going or a coming. If either party has the courage and intelligence to adopt a fair, square, unmistakable plank which will demand a dollar for the workingman worth at all times and everywhere 100 cents in gold, it will have a walk over in 1896."

Preferred a Violent Death to Lingering Illness.

Mrs. Victoria Machen, Widow of the Late Senator From Kentucky, Commits Suicide.

CLINTON, Ky., May 24.—Mrs. Victoria Machen, widow of the late United States Senator Willis B. Machen, committed suicide at the home of her sister in this city today, by shooting herself through the head with a pistol. She was discovered at an early hour by her aged mother in an outhouse, and it is thought the deed was committed about daylight. Mrs. Machen has large landed interests in Lyon county, but her health has been bad for some time and she has lived with her sister here since last fall. Suffering probably unbalanced her mind. Senator Machen was appointed by Governor Leslie and served one term.

SHEERIN FOR SOUND MONEY.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 24.—S. P. Sheerin, of Logansport, secretary of the democratic national committee, who was here on business, announces that he is for "honest money."

"I feel that Indiana will come around all right on the currency question," said he. "I mean by that, that I believe the state will stand for honest money, for I am an 'honest money,' democrat. I take no stock in this agitation for the free coinage of silver. I believe the craze will soon have run its course. I have a great trust in the good sense of the people."

"Is the national committee doing anything?"

"We are not doing anything at this time."

Mr. Sheerin said he had no special knowledge of republican affairs, and had nothing to say about Harrison's probable candidacy.

COUNTRY BANKS TO BEAT IT.

Scheme to Shift Loss Caused by Bogus Checks May Not Carry.

NEW YORK, May 24.—The attempt which the Clearing House association made at a meeting held about a month ago to shift the responsibility for loss from fraudulent checks from the bank on which the check is drawn to the bank first accepting it for collection has apparently fallen through. When this change was taken into consideration of the clearing house committee in the form of a proposed amendment to the by-laws of the association the country bankers saw at once that they were sure to be the main sufferers by the adoption of such a rule. Then arose a storm of objections from the country banks as soon as they learned of the plan and they brought pressure to bear upon the New York banks acting as their correspondents to defeat the proposed scheme. At yesterday's clearing house meeting it was evident that there was a general disposition among the members to gain time, and, in fact, to get out of the bad situation as gracefully as possible. It is generally believed that the country banks have defeated the plan.

WHEAT STILL RESTLESS.

Fluctuates Between Seventy-seven and Seventy-nine Cents.

Brokers See the Danger of a Runaway Market and Endeavor to Prevent a Repetition of Yesterday's Scene.

CHICAGO, May 24.—The wheat market opened excited and irregular today. Traders were at sea as to the probable course of the market. On the curb and the open board early sales had been at 78¾c for July, against 78⅝c at the close yesterday, and sold up to 79¼c. Out of the bedlam of the pit at the opening of the regular board, came the figures 78¼@79c for July, and that was the top price in the early trading. The early news was mostly of a bearish character. Liverpool was 2 pence lower and slow, though London reported cargoes higher, and some English country sales were reported at 6 pence advance. Continental cables were also higher. On the other hand, indications of rain were reported early in the west, though later advices said that these indications were only slight and not in the belt, where drought conditions remained unbroken, and numerous crop damage reports were received later. These bullish reports did not affect the early trading, though they caused a rally later. The bear influence prevailed at the outset. Brokers saw the dangers of such a runaway market as that of yesterday and were advising customers to go slow. As a consequence, early trading brought out many stop loss orders, as wheat slumped off under free selling by longs, and as the shorts were about all in, the market was unsupported. July soon dropped to 77¾c, fluctuated between 77¾c and 78c, and when the very bad crop reports came, advanced to 79 and eased off to 78¾. July corn opened ¾ lower at 54¾ and sold off, with wheat, to 53, rallied to 54 and weakened to 53¼. July oats opened ¼ lower at 31, dropped to 30 and rallied to 30¼. July pork opened 30 cents lower on the heavy receipts of hogs and the break in corn. First quotations were $12.30; then the price went to $12.50, but dropped to $12.20, firming up to $12.25. September lard sold at $6.80@6.82½. July ribs were quotable at $6.25@6.27½.

The wheat market later turned up to 79¼c. Then for a long time it wabbled lazily between 78½c and 79c. The volume of trading was very much reduced in comparison with the business done during the past few days and at times the market was actually dull, though the pit remained full of brokers on the alert for the unexpected. The weakness in corn was partly due to the selling of about 1,000,000 bushels by Baldwin & Farnum. The cash trade in wheat, corn and provisions was large.

NEW YORK, May 24.—Wheat transactions up to noon today was just 5,530,000 bushels, or about 13,000,000 less than they were yesterday morning. Prices, however, danced about in a very lively way. July opened from 81c to 81½c in various parts of the pit and dropped like a plummet to 80¼c. This looked like further realising by the country and the bears were in great glee, predicting a great smash in prices. Their joy was short lived, for with a quick rush prices shot up to 81⅝c on fresh outside buying, then lost ½c and was dull at midday.

Ira C. Jackson, an aged citizen, residing at 82 South Wayne avenue, this morning had a fainting spell while crossing Calhoun street, near the court house. He fell and struck his head on the curbing, inflicting a bad cut. The injured man was carried into the court house yard by Val Gutermuth and Mike Barns. Dr. Stemen was called and later the old gentleman was removed to his home. The wound is not serious.

Mrs. Benjamin Meiser, one of the ladies slightly bruised during the runaway accident on Wednesday, was reported dead this morning. She resides north of the city, but the report is not believed, as the coroner or none of the undertakers have been notified. Mrs. Lemay is still alive, but said to be sinking slowly and may not survive the night.

This morning at the Standard Wheel works Thomas Chorping, of 407 South Clinton street, had three fingers of his right hand fearfully mangled by a saw. Drs. Miller and Brownd attended.

STRIKES ENDED.

Miners in the Pittsburg District Give Up the Fight

And Return to Work at the Operators' Terms—The Hod Carriers Also Declare Their Strike Off.

PITTSBURG, Pa., May 24.—The miners' strike of the Pittsburg district is practically ended, and the strikers will go back to work at the operator's terms, sixty cents per ton.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 24.—The Master Bricklayer's association has received communications from the Hod Carriers' unions Nos. 2 and 3, officially declaring off the strike which began several weeks ago and affected 1,500 men. Union No. 1 is still out.

CHICAGO, May 24.—The striking brick makers have appealed to the Bricklayers' union for aid in their fight against the bosses who have refused to pay the union scale. The strike situation now promises to take a peculiar turn. At the bricklayers' meeting tonight it is understood that a resolution will be passed which practically means a boycott of all but union made brick. A great majority of brick manufacturers are in favor of the union scale of wages, and it is probable that the union yards will begin operations again next week, while the non-union yards will have to quit. The strikers made threatening demonstrations at two or three points today where brick were being unloaded from cars, but were dispersed by the police.

EJECTING SETTLERS.

Indian Agent Beck Driving Them Off the Winnebago.

Some of the Cattle Men Show Fight and Bloodshed Will Follow a Rigid Enforcement of the Order.

PENDER, Neb., May 24.—Indian Agent Beck has positively commenced the ejectment of settlers occupying the lands of the Flournoy company on the Winnebago reservation. O. E. Anderson, Peter Bloome and William Berg, residing in the vicinity of Wakefield, Neb., were removed yesterday afternoon by sixteen Indian police, armed to the teeth. Captain Beck has served notice that other settlers must go and will continue eviction today. It is thought there would be an attempt to put off the cattle in Dick Kelly's pasture this afternoon, but it has not yet been attempted. If the attempt is made there will surely be bloodshed, as Kelly has threatened to shoot the first red skin that comes inside of his pasture for that purpose. He is a dare devil sort of a fellow and likely to make his threat good. There is no excitement here whatever, as it is not generally believed that the agent will use force. Those who have been ousted by the police were merely told to get off, and when they refused were not molested.

MISSIONARY WORK.

Cleveland Catholics Inaugurate a New Plan of Operation.

The Movement is Patterned After the Salvation Army, and the Clergy Are Enthusiastic Over It.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, May 25.—Catholic missionary workers are about to start a movement of the greatest importance among the masses of population in this city. It might be called a Catholic Salvation Army movement, except that some of the odd features of the Salvation Army will be omitted. The missionaries have the indorsement of Bishop Horstmann, of this diocese, to the plan of street work and meetings will soon be begun on the street corners and curbs. An organization will be formed and as soon as practicable will be made national and extended to all the great cities of the country. So enthusiastic are the local Catholic clergy that several will resign from their parishes to engage in the street work.

WILLIAMS RETIRES.

The New York Police Inspector Steps Down and Out.

A Rumor Current in New York That the Police Board Will Remove Superintendent Byrnes.

NEW YORK, May 24.—Police Inspector Williams has been retired from the force upon his own application.

NEW YORK, May 24.—An afternoon paper makes the statement that the police board has determined to remove Superintendent Byrnes and Inspector Williams, and to institute a thorough reorganization of the police department.

ROYAL ARCANUM.

The Annual Session of the Supreme Council Ended.

Arkansas Granted the Privilege of Doubling Her Membership—The Next Meeting at Savannah.

ST. LOUIS, May 24.—The annual session of the supreme council of the Royal Arcanum closed today after the longest session in the history of the order, ten days having been spent in its work in this city. Today's session was chiefly devoted to the installation of the newly elected supreme officers and in leave taking. The Arkansas question has been settled for the time being by the granting of permission for all Arkansas councils to double their present membership. This permission did not include Helena. Supreme Medical Examiner in Chief Styer was instructed to make a thorough investigation of the climatic conditions of the state and to report at the next session of the supreme council at Savanah, Ga.

QUEEN VICTORIA.

England Celebrates Her Majesty's Birthday.

The Royal Lady Arrives at the Seventy-sixth Milestone on Life's Highway.

LONDON, May 24.—The seventy-sixth birthday of Queen Victoria was observed today at all the naval and military stations, with the exception of the city, by the usual display of flags, trooping of the colors, etc. In London the celebration of her majesty's birthday will be observed tomorrow with the trooping of colors at Whitehall, ministerial dinners, etc.

WINDSOR, Ont., May 24.—Windsor's streets were crowded today with many thousands of loyal subjects who are taking part in the celebration of the queen's birthday. The parade, which was made shortly before noon, was an imposing military spectacle. The center of attraction was the Forty-eighth regiment of Highlanders, eight companies strong. Their novel appearance in full Highlander's uniform and their soldierly bearing called out plaudits of the crowds.

The king's troops of cavalry, 21st Essex fusiliers, and several local and cadet companies, with several cornet and pipers bands, completed the parade, which was wholly of a military character. The highlanders' regiment is encamped on the race track grounds, where sports of various kinds were enjoyed this afternoon. Several Canadian notables are present and the revenue cutter Petrel, gaily decked, is anchored in front of the city. The celebration will last throughout tomorrow.

CHICAGO'S CANAL.

The Legislature Makes It Possible to Complete It.

CHICAGO, May 24.—The enlarged taxing powers for the next three years just given by the legislature to the trustees of the Chicago drainage district by the bill now awaiting Governor Altgeld's signature, insure the prompt completion of the main channel, and it is now expected that water will be turned into the channel early in 1897. The additional 1 per cent. levy will give the board additional funds available for immediate use to the amount of nearly $2,500,000 per annum, based on the present assessed valuation. This additional leeway from current taxes renders it improbable that any more bonds will ever be issued by the sanitary district of Chicago. And in any event the amount of such additional bonds, if any should be issued within the next few years, would necessarily be small by reason of the 5 per cent. constitutional limit. Whatever may be Governor Altgeld's views on the measure, the unusually heavy vote, 124 to 7, by which it passed the house makes it certain that he will affix his signature promptly.

The committee of ten gentlemen appointed by the president of the Relief union to collect funds for that society, will be called together upon the return of Mr. Johnson, the chairman of the committee. Mr. Johnson, who is now in Connecticut, expects to return about June 4.

One candidate was initiated at the meeting of Summit City lodge, No. 36, A. O. U. W., at the regular meeting last night and two applications were received and referred to investigating committees. The hall committee reported that they had rented the hall to another organization, they to meet on Friday evening of each week. The hall is now in use every night except the second and third Monday and Wednesday nights of each week.

EX-SEC. M'CULLOCH

Dies at His Home Near Washington, D. C.

His Long and Busy Career—Served in Three Cabinets—No Arrangements for the Funeral.

Ex-Secretary of the Treasury Hugh McCulloch, father of Charles McCulloch, of this city, died at his country home, near Washington, D. C., at 2:40 o'clock this morning.

Charles McCulloch was summoned to Washington several days ago by a telegram announcing that his father was critically ill. The patient rallied, however, but has been hovering between life and death ever since his son's arrival. The deceased was just past his eighty-sixth birthday and the cause of death was a general breaking down of the system. Mr. McCulloch was in a comatose state when death came. His two sons, one daughter and a grandson were at his bedside when the end came.

Besides a wife, the deceased leaves two sons, Charles, of this city, and Fred H., of Virginia; Mrs. Louise Yale and Miss Mary.

An Associated Press dispatch to THE SENTINEL at 1 o'clock stated that no arrangements have yet been made for the funeral, and probably none will be made until the arrival of Miss Mary. She sailed for New York on the 18th, and will probably reach Washington either today or tomorrow.

It will be remembered that she was en route on a trip around the world with J. Ross McCulloch, her nephew, of this city.

Mr. McCulloch was the son of Hugh McCulloch, of Kennebunk, Maine, who was in his day one of the most enterprising and, at one time, one of the largest ship owners in New England, and who, like others in that business, suffered by the war of 1812. Owing to these reverses Hugh, who was one of the youngest of a large family, found himself as he approached to manhood dependent upon his own exertions for making headway in the world. He had received, however, the necessary preparatory education, and he entered Bowdoin college in 1824, graduating in 1829. After leaving college he taught school until he had saved money enough to cover the expenses of a course of legal studies, which he completed in Boston in 1832. In April, 1833, he came west, and after spending a few weeks in Madison, Ind., in the office of Jeremiah Sullivan, to acquaint himself with the statutes of the state, he went to Indianapolis, and upon examination was licensed to practice law in the supreme and inferior courts of the state. From Indianapolis he went to the lake, and after traversing, alone and on horseback, the northern part of the state, which was at that time, as he has described it, a magnificent wilderness, he reached Fort Wayne, then little more than an Indian trading post, through which the Wabash and Erie canal was being constructed, and where, as there seemed to be a good future before it, he determined to remain. The State Bank of Indiana, chartered in 1833, was organized for business in 1834. In 1835 a branch was established at Fort Wayne, and Mr. McCulloch was appointed its cashier and manager. In 1837 he became, as the representative of the branch, a member of the board of control or director of the State bank, which position he held in connection with the cashiership of the Fort Wayne branch, until the expiration of the charter, in 1857. In the winter of 1855 and 1856, in anticipation of the expiration of the charter of the State bank, another bank was organized, to go into operation on the 1st of January, 1857, under the name of the "Bank of the State of Indiana," with twenty branches, and an authorized capital of $6,000,000, one-half of which was paid in. Of this bank, Mr. McCulloch was, in 1856, elected president by the unanimous vote and held the position until April, 1863, when he resigned to accept the office of comptroller of the currency, which was strongly pressed upon him by Mr. Lincoln and Mr. Chase. He entered upon its duties and was the means of putting our national banking system on a successful footing. In March, 1865, upon the resignation of Mr. Fessenden, Mr. Lincoln tendered to Mr. McCulloch the office of secretary of the treasury. As the office was neither solicited nor desired, the action of Mr. Lincoln in offering to him the most important and responsible office in the government was a very gratifying recognition by the president of his financial ability, and of the value of the services he had rendered as comptroller of the currency. Mr. McCulloch resigned his office at the close of Mr. Johnson's administration on the 3d of March, 1869, and gave himself the rest which he required after six years of hard and unremitting labor. In November, 1870, he went to London and organized the banking house of Jay Cooke, McCulloch & Co., which did a very large and profitable business. In January, 1874 the London partners of Jay Cooke, McCulloch & Co., were joined by Hon. R. L. Melville, a gentleman of means and ability and high social position, and a new firm was formed, under the name of McCulloch & Co. The years following were divided between London and New York in looking after the interests of his firm, until during the latter part of President Arthur's administration he was again asked to take charge of the portfolio of the treasury, made vacant by the resignation of Judge Walter Q. Gresham. He occupied the position till the inauguration of President Cleveland. Since that time Mr. McCulloch has lived a retired life at his country home "Holly Hill" in Prince George county, Maryland, a few miles distant from Washington, devoting himself to literary pursuits and to the care of large landed estates in Maryland and Virginia.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR.

Rev. J. S. Ainslie Talks to Them on Knightly Virtues.

Interesting Ascension Day Services at the Plymouth Congregational Church—Masterly Discourse.

Ascension day was observed appropriately yesterday by the local Knights Templar, who marched in a body to the Plymouth Congregational church at 7:30 p. m. and listened to a splendid discourse by Rev. J. S. Ainslie. After reading the beautiful service of the order, interspersed with singing by the choir, and a solo and by Mrs. Culbertson, Rev. Ainslie began his address by saying that he was glad that the church universal was every year giving more attention to the observance of Ascension day. He thought this right and proper that the day should have a significance to the entire Christian world equal to that of Easter. The life of Christ did not end with the crucifixion, but for forty days after His forthcoming from the tomb we have abundant historical evidence of the wonderful life just previous to the last scene, when, from amid his sorrowing desciples, the Savior of the world was caught up in a cloud and borne aloft to Heaven. Just at this final mystery in his great life, Christ gave a commission to his fishermen desciples, which has been a commission to the whole world: "Go ye forth in the world, teaching in my name and lo, I am with you all days, even unto the end of the world."

Rev. Ainslie then sketched briefly the work done by the early disciples in spreading the gospel, and how, up to the fourth century, nearly the entire civilized world had come to accept Christ. Then ecclesiastic strife brought on the dark ages which continued until the great revival, which had its rise at the beginning of the first crusade.

About the year 1094, A. D., a man of small stature, clad in the garb of a monk, might have been seen riding a mule over that region north of the Alps. The man had once been a soldier, but wearying of the bloody strife had repented and entered upon a religious life. But the old spirit of war burned in his bosom and, when pilgrims came from the Holy Land with tales of the cruelties of the heathens, the monk determined to march an army to rescue the holy sepulchre from their hostile hands. That monk was Peter, the Hermit, and the epoch in which he lived was the grandest of medieval history. The war cry of Peter was "To the rescue—it is God's will." He tore into strips his red scarf and his enthusiastic followers pinned red crosses upon their arms. This was the birth of the Order of Knights Templar.

Then began that holy war in which 60,000 men, the flower of Europe, marched to the east and wrenched the tombs of the saints from the heathen.

Chivalry, valor, truth and honor bound together that great army. Peter designed a five pointed star which was worn upon the breasts of his soldiers. Each point of the star represented some manly quality. The first was truth, the second purity, the third courtesy, the fourth patience and the fifth valor.

Under each one of these heads Rev. Ainslie spoke of the qualities which went to make up a true knight, enlarging upon these special virtues which the Order of Knights Templar seek to emulate.

Rev. Ainslie's address was a masterly effort and was appreciated by the large audience present.

THE LABOR FAIR.

Another Large Crowd in Attendance Last Evening.

Latest News Concerning the Voting for the Various Prizes—Attractions for the Rest of the Week.

The attendance at the labor fair last night was one of the largest since it opened and the interest displayed by the visitors was ample evidence that the many attractive features were highly appreciated by the crowd.

The numerous contests are beginning to get decidedly interesting for the audiences as well as the contestants, and the hustling abilities of the workers shows that a high degree of enthusiasm prevails.

The contest for a full set of dishes will be decided tonight, the contestants being Rosanetta Keller and Maggie McVey, and the friends of each are hopeful of their favorite coming out ahead.

The fishing tackle contest between Charles Hockemeyer, William McWhorter and Christ Witte will be decided this evening.

Tomorrow night the dining room set will be voted for, Joseph Drubat and Mrs. L. C. Kasten being in the race. Up to last night this contest has been attracting the most prominent attention.

The fine Blickensderfer typewriter contributed by Dixon Edgerton to the fair had, up to last night, attracted no attention and was not even on the boards to be contested for, but a sudden spirit of contest developed last evening and the typewriter contest started off with a boom, three of the most prominent labor unions of the city entering the fight, the Typographical union, Working Girls' union and Machinists' union. It is expected that by this evening the Brewers, Butchers and Cigarmakers will be added to the list, and the battle will assume interesting proportions. The typewriter is a prize worth striving for, and there is reason to suppose that there is sufficient pride in each of the organizations named to impel them to make a grand effort to be victorious when the fair closes on next Monday night, to which time it has been extended.

The First Regiment band furnished the music, and after 11 o'clock the vast audience danced until the clock struck 12, when the pleasures of the evening ended.

In the midst of the festivities last evening Mr. Henry Koch, the well known cigarmaker, who was in the contest for the fishing tackle, received a telegram from Cincinnati announcing the death of his mother, and as he found it necessary to leave for that place to attend the funeral, he withdrew from the race. A big crowd is expected tonight.

PELTED WITH EGGS.

A Drunken Man Makes Things Lively for Dan Gorman.

Quite a Number of Prisoners on Trial at Police Court This Morning—A Friendless Girl.

Charles Daugherty, a well known character about town, got on a drunk, yesterday afternoon, on Main street and started out to have some fun with his enemy, Daniel Gorman, the fish dealer.

Dougherty entered the market and, picking up some eggs which were lying on the counter, began to throw them at Gorman. The nutritious fusilade caused the fish monger to beat a rapid retreat into the rear of the establishment. The doughty Daugherty, however, kept firing random showers of eggs at the proprietor and enjoyed the sport. The police were notified and Officer Hines, who made the arrest, had considerable difficulty in persuading the drunken man that he was violating the peace and dignity of that part of the city. This morning Mayor Oakley sent the prisoner to jail for fifteen days.

This morning about 2 o'clock Officers Buchner and Richardson arrested two vagrants on Williams street, where they had broken into an unoccupied house and were lying in a drunken stupor. They gave the names of John Martin and Anthony Rosenberger. Both were sent to jail for fifteen days.

Charles Bennet was a plain, drunken vag arrested yesterday afternoon at the south depot by Officer Phipps. The man was begging and acting in an insulting manner. He was sent over for fifteen days.

John Bennett and Jennie Boyles were arrested on the river bank back of the crematory last evening about 9 o'clock by the sheriff and his deputies. Both were locked up charged with prostitution. This morning Mayor Oakley sent both to jail for twenty days.

Joseph Miller was a plain drunk who was picked up on Spy Run avenue in a state of intoxication. He was sent to jail.

Last evening Officer Hardendorf found a seventeen-year-old girl at the Nickel Plate depot who had been sent here from Latta, O., by the township trustee. The girl was an orphan and was looking for work. She was allowed to stay at the station house all night and this morning was turned over to Humane Officer Schlaudroff, who found her a place to work. The girl gave the name of Rose Wagner.

HOW MANY WOMEN DO YOU KNOW

Who Can Say They Are Thoroughly Well? How They Can Be Strong.

[SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS.]

I don't feel very well; I am so tired all the time; I don't know what is the matter with me.

You hear these words every day. As often as you meet your friends, just so often are the words repeated. More than likely you speak the same pregnant words yourself, and there is no doubt but that you do feel far from well most of the time.

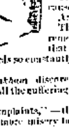
There is a cause,

And—

There is a remedy for all that is conveyed by those words so constantly spoken by women.

Lydia E. Pinkham discovered the source of nearly all the suffering endured by the sex.

"Women's Complaints,"—these two words are full of more misery to women than any two words that can be found in the language of the world.



Sudden fainting, depression of spirits, reluctance to go anywhere or to do anything, backache, "bearing down," and kindred symptoms of serious disturbance seldom imagined by your family physician, and reluctantly mentioned by you.

The remedy is found; the same noble woman who discovered the cause of all your misery also worked out the remedy. All druggists have it.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the greatest blessing that ever came into the lives of suffering women.

It is too early to declare that we shall have no grapes on account of the recent frosts. Grape vines have wonderful recuperative powers. One or two frosts don't, as a general thing, kill grapes entirely. There will be grapes next fall, probably lots of them.

THE Florida house has unanimously passed the state senate bill providing for heavy punishment for prize fighting and boxing matches between professionals. Pugilists will soon have to do all of their fighting on paper or seek rings where there will not be much money in it for them.

MR. DANIEL MCDONALD, the editor of the Plymouth Democrat, and a member of the executive committee of the State Democratic Editorial association, writes THE SENTINEL that no date has yet been arranged for the midsummer meeting. He says the committee will probably meet at Terre Haute on June 7 to fix the time and other details of the meeting.

THE Chicago Times-Herald makes a plea in favor of pensioning ex-presidents of the United States to the extent of at least $25,000 a year. The people of this country pay their presidents a salary of $50,000 a year. If in four years they can't save enough money out of their salary to supply their wants they ought not to expect the nation to support them. The proposition to pension our ex-presidents has no merit in it.

JAMES ALLEN, a member of the Indianapolis paid fire department, has discovered a statute under which the firemen are exempt from tax on their personal property and poll tax to the amount of $500. He was listed as delinquent at the treasurer's office, but when he produced the copy of Burn's revised statutes and showed the act to the treasurer, he was given a receipt without cost. The statute is 6,623 in Burn's and 4,603 in Meyer's old edition. It is supposed that the act was originally passed as an offset for the per cent of firemen's wages which is generally deducted to go to the firemen's pension fund.

POLITICS is cutting a big figure in the confederate veterans' reunion now being held at Houston, Texas. Not long since Speaker Crisp, in an interview, announced that the next candidate for the presidency on the democratic ticket would be a western man, a prominent soldier and a man in favor of the free and unlimited coinage of silver. It is evident that he spoke by the card, and the man is already agreed upon. The program is to nominate General J. M. Schofield for the presidency at the next national democratic convention and run him on a free silver platform.

THE death of Hon. Hugh McCulloch, the particulars of which are given in another part of THE SENTINEL today, removes a former citizen of Fort Wayne who became distinguished in the affairs of the nation. Appointed by President Lincoln as the comptroller of currency, he afterwards became secretary of the treasury of the United States and served in that position under three presidents with marked ability. He had a prominent and, indeed, a leading part in the organization of our present banking system. Of the manner in which he administered his great office; of his success in raising the enormous amount of money required to meet the demands of the country in the closing scenes of the war; in paying the soldiers and sailors when the war was ended; in funding the temporary obligations of the government, amounting to some fifteen hundred millions of dollars, without disturbing the business and industrial interests of the country, it is not necessary to speak. The record of these operations is one of the most interesting chapters in the history of the treasury department, and it is upon the success of this great work that his reputation as secretary should rest.

The Songs of the War.

During the war of the rebellion many songs were composed by earnest men and women in both the north and south, but how few among these winged messengers of the brain survive! There were lyrics that timed the march to battle, war slogans that rang out like the inspiring rat-a-tat of a drum and elegies that recited the virtues of the hero dead, yet the memory of most of them passed away with the generation that saw their birth. Of those that have lingered longest and bid fair to become a permanent heritage of the struggle brief mention, together with something about their history and a reproduction of the stirring verses, will be made in tomorrow's SENTINEL. They will be found especially interesting and appropriate just now that Memorial day is close at hand. Among those of which mention will be made are "Marching Through Georgia," "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp, the Boys are Marching," "John Brown's Body," "When Johnny Comes Marching Home" and "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." They will occupy one entire page of THE SENTINEL and will be a memento which every old soldier and our readers generally will highly prize.

Coffeeland.

If you want to get rich, go to Nyassaland, on the borders of Lake Nyassa, in mid-Africa. It is the garden spot of the world. It is a tableland elevated from 3,000 to 5,000 feet above sea level. This puts it above the miasma which are the deadly bane of tropical Africa and gives it a climate cool and delightful. White men live there in health and comfort the year around. The good missionaries have got in their work and clad the black natives in white calico, which adds to the picturesque effect of the settlements in this beautiful region.

The district in which Nyassaland is situate is officially known as the British Central Africa protectorate. This being the most desirable spot in Central Africa, the British naturally grabbed it for their own. As yet the white population is only 400, but already there is a trade to and from the settlements that amounts to $500,000 a year. Labor is done by the blacks, who work for almost nothing. Some of the richest land on the earth can be bought in Nyassaland for from 25 cents to $1.50 an acre.

But the greatest product of Nyassaland is coffee, its most striking feature is its vast coffee plantations. The berry grows here of such a quality and in such abundance as can be found nowhere else, it is said. One planter, a Mr. Buchanan, raised last year a crop worth $35,000.

If the English newspaper correspondents who sent out those Armenian atrocity reports lied about it, as the Turks say they did, then all the world will be happy if the sultan of Turkey wins the libel suit he has brought against them in the London courts. The American people will be grateful to Abdul Hamid forever if he shall succeed in breaking up even half of the lying habitually done by European newspaper correspondents. And nobody will be half so glad as the editors of respectable American newspapers.

It is really very sad about the theosophists. How bravely they started out, flying the flag of that "universal brotherhood," which they were going to teach to all the world, first being solid examples of it themselves! And to think of the monkey and parrot time they are having, all on account of a little matter of documents from the holy mahatmas.

Russia may be able to cope with Japan, but she will have all the world down on her when she attempts to fight Modjeska. She may get Uncle Sam particularly down on her, too, for Modjeska is properly an American citizen.

One hundred and five million people speak the English language. Yes, and probably 101,000,000 of them say "them potatoes" and "there ain't no."

Mrs. N. E. Cook, of Wellington, Kan., is visiting at the residence of her brother, E. H. Bookwalter. Mr. Cook will be remembered as the former yardmaster in the Wabash yards in this city and Andrews.

Mrs. M. B. Beiger and Mrs. F. R. Eberhart, of Mishawaka, Ind., are the guests of Mrs. Phillip Harter, of 202 West Washington street. They are attending the Woman's Home Missionary society of the north Indiana conference, which is now being held at the Wayne street M. E. church.

Last evening Miss Maud Rhoades entertained friends with a masquerade party at her home on the east side. Many unique characters were represented. About fifteen couples participated in the fun. The evening was spent in playing games and a luncheon of ices and cake was served at 11 o'clock.

Mr. W. Kuehne, of Jersey City, an expert in piano construction, has arrived in the city and will have charge of the piano department of the organ factory, an industry recently added to the organ works. On Jersey City Heights Mr. Kuehne and Mr. W. Moetling, the latter now a clerk at the Fruit House, were neighbors for a number of years.

Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Younge and family left this afternoon for Roanoke, riding in their "trap," where they will spend tonight, and tomorrow they will drive to Huntington to visit over Sunday with Mrs. Younge's parents. Tomorrow is the fifty fifth birthday anniversary of the doctor and today his son, Lawrence J., is celebrating his fourteenth birthday.

This evening at the Masonic Temple will be given an entertainment by Misses Anna Philley and Gertrude Michel, both of the Boston school of oratory, for the benefit of the Y. W. C. A. It promises to be one of the society events of the season. A number of young ladies will serve as ushers, the stage will be prettily decorated and excellent music furnished by the Haydn and Morning Musical quartets will be a special feature. The proceeds will be used to buy furniture for the new association rooms, and it is hoped that the entertainment will receive the patronage that it deserves.

The South Side Railroad club gave a pleasant reception at Sons of Columbus hall Wednesday evening. The grand march, in which over 100 couples participated, was led by Miss Maggie McCann and Mr. D. E. Cleary, assisted by Miss Clara Donaldson and Mr. C. F. Hawley. An enjoyable dance program of twenty-four numbers made the evening pass pleasantly.

New French outing cloths, light of weight and pleasant to the touch, are selected for mountain and seaside dresses in preference to the more wooly outing flannels so long popular. The suits made of these fabrics are simple in the extreme regarding both style and trimming. They have a small jacket very chic and trim in effect, a four and one-half yard skirt, and the sleeves are large and drooping. En suite with each costume are three or four shirt waists of different colors and material with which to vary its appearance.

Last evening at 6:30, in the lovely home of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen J. Roberts, No. 6 Ida street, occurred the marriage of their charming daughter, Miss Anna Francis Roberts, to Mr. Claude Swain Bouter, a trusty employe of the Pennsylvania company at Chicago. The ceremony was sustained by Pastor Northrop, after which a bountiful repast was served by efficient hands. Several were present to take part in the congratulations, among whom were Mr. and Mrs. William F. C. Bouter, of Chicago, parents of the bridegroom; Mr. and Mrs. Ford Bouter and son, of DeWald street; Mrs. Jackson Swain, the grandmother; also, Mrs. Elisabeth Swain and son. Other interested parties, the names of whom our reporter did not secure, witnessed the pleasing service. Mr. and Mrs. Claude S. Bouter leave for their new home in Chicago this evening.

Yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Ellison, of Lagrange, occurred the marriage of their daughter, Miss Mary, to Mr. Willis A. Bastian, of Indianapolis. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. B. Suman in the presence of the bride and bridegroom's families and a few friends. After a short wedding tour Mr. and Mrs. Bastian will reside at 330 North New Jersey street, Indianapolis. Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Ellison of this city, and Miss Ellen Ellison, of Lincoln, Neb., were in attendance. The following is taken from the Lagrange Standard: "Mr. Bastian is a son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Bastian, a graduate from our town school and from DePauw university, a talented young man with a bright future before him as a practitioner of law. Of late he has been in the law office of McBride & Denny at Indianapolis, but will soon launch out for himself in that city. Miss Ellison has been a graceful and valuable member of Lagrange society and a devoted worker in religious and benevolent societies. Her interest in these is shown by the duties and honors given her, such as assistant superintendent of the M. E. Sunday school, a vice president of the Epworth league and president of the Tuesday club.

GOV. MORTON.

John Palmer Favors His Nomination for President.

ALBANY, N. Y., May 24.—"I do not believe there is any foundation for this talk that Governor Morton has made an alliance with ex-President Harrison to bring about the nomination of another Harrison Morton ticket in 1896," said John Palmer, the secretary of state. "Mr. Morton," he added, "has been vice president once and the office probably has no further attractions for him. Besides, the fact must be considered that he was elected governor of New York in 1894 by the remarkable majority of 150,000 and that his course as governor has been highly satisfactory to his fellow citizens irrespective of party. I think that, popular as he was when he became governor, he is a much stronger man today, for as the chief executive of the state he has carried out the general will in a variety of ways. Much as I respect Benjamin Harrison I am convinced that Levi P. Morton is the logical candidate of the New York republicans for the presidency. If he desires the nomination he will have a solid delegation from New York state to the national convention. To my mind that appears to be the drift of republican sentiment in this state."

THE ODD FELLOWS

Are Confronted by the Liquor Question.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 25.—The grand lodge of the I. O. O. F. adjourned sine die yesterday. A motion was made during the morning that the semi-annual communication of May, 1895, be dispensed with. It was referred to the committee on legislation, with instructions to report at the next meeting.

Nominations were made for the various offices to be filled at the meeting in November. The nominations were as follows: Grand master, C. F. Northorn; deputy grand master, G. L. Reinhard; grand Warden, L. J. Monk and about thirty others; grand secretary, B. F. Foster; grand treasurer, J. A. Wildman; representative to sovereign grand lodge, M. A. Chipman; trustee grand lodge, J. F. Wallick. The grand treasurer is to receive $150 per term for his services.

There has been a good deal of unexpressed feeling among members of the order in regard to liquor dealers in the order. There are some who feel that saloonkeepers should not be entitled to membership; that good men are kept out of the order on account of the liquor dealers who are already in.

Whether on pleasure bent, or business, take on every trip a bottle of Syrup of Figs, as it acts most pleasantly and effectively on the kidneys, liver and bowels, preventing fevers, headaches and other forms of sickness. For sale in 50 cents and $1 bottles by all leading druggists.

WEDDED FIFTY YEARS.

Golden Wedding of Mr. and Mrs. H. Casteel, of Pleasant Tp.

Over One Hundred and Fifty of Their Neighbors and Friends Assist in the Celebration of the Event.

Fifty years of wedded life has been the happy lot of Mr. Henry Casteel and his wife, Matilda, their marriage having occurred in Wayne county, Ohio, on the 20th of May, 1845, and on last Wednesday, the anniversary of the event, they celebrated their golden wedding at their home in Pleasant township, near Sheldon, in this county. They were greeted on the occasion by over 150 of their friends and neighbors and the celebration was a most enjoyable one.

After the assembling of the company, and previous to the dinner, some pleasant exercises were planned and for this purpose the guests were called to order by Hon. John Beigler, and a song rendered by a choir. Prayer was offered by Rev. Bloyd, a welcome address delivered by Rev. P. J. Rice, of this city, after which a most sumptuous dinner was served. Col. I. B. McDonald, of Columbia City, was then called on and delivered an address, in which he congratulated the host and hostess on their golden wedding anniversary, and gave interesting reminiscences of old-time days. He was followed in a short address by Rev. Bloyd. The following is a list of many of those present:

OFFICERS ELECTED

By the District Meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society.

Muncie Selected as the Place for the Next Convention—Work Finished Today.

The second day's proceedings of the meeting of the Women's Home Missionary society of the North Indiana M. E. conference were begun this morning at the Wayne Street M. E. church with devotional exercises conducted by Mrs. C. H. Murray, after which the reports of the secretaries of the different auxiliaries of the district were made, followed with a report of Mrs. M. A. Harlan, the secretary of supplies.

The election of officers for the ensuing year was then held. There was quite an animated contest and when the ballots were counted the following was found to be the result:

President—Mrs. G. N. Eldridge, Anderson.

Vice President—Mrs. J. H. Bickford, Fort Wayne.

Recording Secretary—Mrs. J. B. Lylle, Marion.

Treasurer—Mrs. G. A. Osborne, Marion.

Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. L. H. Bunyan, Richmond.

Supply—Mrs. Minnie Ervin, Elkhart.

Delegates to National Convention—Mrs. Browne, Huntington, and Mrs. Guenhart, Mishawaka.

The next order of business as announced by the president was the place of holding the next convention and Mrs. McCarty, of Muncie, arose and extended an invitation to the delegates to meet in that city. The invitation was afterwards put in the form of a motion and by a unanimous vote Muncie was chosen. The next meeting will be held during the third week of May, 1895.

During the morning meeting a resolution requesting the North Indiana conference to give the Women's Home Missionary society two columns in their published proceedings for a report of the work done by this missionary society was unanimously adopted.

This brought the sessions up to the noon hour and the ladies then repaired to the church parlors where a luncheon was served.

The afternoon session was devoted to unfinished business and the hearing of an address on "Our Work," from Mrs. Dr. Eldridge, of Anderson.

The convention adjourned late this afternoon and the delegates left for their homes well pleased with the work done and the manner in which they had been entertained while in the city.

Last evening the anniversary of the society was fittingly observed, the session being presided over by Mrs. F. G. Brown. The Rev. J. H. Bickford led in the devotional exercises. The members of "Queen Esther Band," of Newcastle, gave some recitations which were well received. The address of Mrs. R. S. Rust, of Cincinnati, was very interesting, containing much information regarding the work done by the missionary societies in various parts of the country. She said the Home Missionary society was organized in 1880, but prior to its organization work of the same character was carried forward in the southern states. When the work became so great it was necessary to form a permanent organization, and an appeal was made to all the ladies of the United States, who met at Cincinnati and formed the Woman's Missionary society. The address was followed by a vocal duett by Mr. F. F. Yarnelle and daughter, Miss Edith, and the meeting closed with the benediction.

HOW TO CLEAN A BEARING.

An Expert's Simple but Very Effective Method of Keeping His Wheel In Order.

Use plenty of good oil. For a ball bearing the oil should be thin and of a quality which will tend to evaporate rather than to "gum." Don't get the absurd idea that you will injure your bearing by too much oil. Of course "enough is as good as a feast." But you couldn't injure the bearing if you used a quart of oil on it each day. Any oil is very injurious to rubber, and the principal danger from overdoses of oil is that it may run down on to the tire. A machine which has been standing through the winter wants cleaning. If you are an expert and it will do you any good to take the bearings apart, do it, but it won't do the bearings any good.

Take out the saddle rod and pour a tablespoonful of the common, everyday "servant girl's delight," by dealers called kerosene oil, into the hole where the rod was. In nearly all machines the kerosene will run directly on to the shaft. Of course, if your frame isn't built that way, don't do it, but squirt the oil in through the oil hole. Having filled the bearing with kerosene, spin the shaft until the oil which runs out is no longer black, then wipe the parts thoroughly, apply a few drops of your regular oil, and the bearing will be all right. Clean the bearings in the wheel the same way, except that greater care must be taken to avoid spoiling the tire. The safest way after drenching the bearings and running them thoroughly is to lay the machine on its side until the kerosene has run out.—L. A. W. Bulletin.

THE WOMAN BEGINNER

How She Is Taught to Tame the Elusive Silent Steed.

The average woman learns to ride a bicycle in five or six lessons, many women learn in two or three, and the unusual woman learns in one. When the unusual woman comes along, the instructors do a great deal of bragging about her. The pupil is helped on her machine, and her instructor leads her very slowly around the circle, holding her by the wrist and by a clumsy belt that is strapped around her waist. After she has gained some confidence in herself the instructor stands off a few feet, holding tight, however, to a strap attached to the rider's belt. In case she begins to fall he pulls her toward him and saves her. Finally the time comes when the strap can be discarded and the teacher dances around a few feet from the scholar, holding out his hands much after the fashion of the young mother teaching "lovey baby" to walk, though some irreverent man made the remark that it reminded him more of herding sheep.

After this stage is reached the rider suddenly acquires the art, and before she can realize it herself she is flying around and around and fancies that she has no further use for her instructor. An old time professional racing man who is now acting as an instructor said recently, "It is easier to run a six days' race than to take a woman on the road for the first time."—New York Sun.

WHEELING WISDOM.

The proof of excellence in a wheel is not always in the price it will bring.

Every improvement in bicycling is a reaction against the improvement which preceded it.

No one will ever give the featherweight craze the credit it will deserve for aiding the fool killer.

A handsome wheel pleases the eye; a good wheel pleases the heart. One is a jewel, the other a treasure.

As a rule, wheelmen are each day growing less and less addicted to the dromedary form of posture.

The hardest thing in cycling is to know beforehand just what wheel will satisfy you when you get it.

Don't think that because time is money you can cash up the ten minute handicap you have received in a road race.

"The only thing I really object to in the mildly dressed wheelwoman," said the observant and susceptible young man, "is that she does all she can to render herself irresistible and then becomes indignant if one doesn't resist her."—Wheel.

Brooklyn's Fast Cycle Track.

The fact that pneumatic tires are a benefit to the surface of a road may be readily proved by noting the condition of a wet or loose spot before and after a number of wheels, such as a club run, have passed over it. The spot, after the bicycles have passed, will be as smooth and firm as though a steam roller had gone over it.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Nickel Plate train No. 6 had nine cars last night, three more than usual, and all were filled with passengers. The extra cars were Wagner sleepers.

Nickel Plate Conductor Porter Lat returned from Atlanta, Ga., where he attended the O. R. C. convention. He resumed his train duties this morning.

F. C. Miller and George Burchard, of the Pittsburg shops, are off duty, the former being afflicted with sore eyes. D. Collins, of the lumber yards, is off by permission.

The Illinois Central has ordered out for 1,300 new freight cars, to cost $650,000, and the company proposes this season to enlarge its shops at Burnside at a cost of $500,000.

Joseph Wills, fireman of Nickel Plate engine No. 12, got tangled up in a bicycle yesterday and sprained one of his knees so badly that he will be unable to work for a few days.

The local passenger men's association at Kansas City has been reorganized, the Wabash and the Missouri Pacific rejoining it. It is expected that tariff rates will now be maintained at that point.

The railroads are getting considerable revenue this year for transporting circuses. Last year there were but three on the road, but this year, in different parts of the country, there are nine traveling.

N. W. Thompson, of the maintenance of way department of the Pittsburg, went to Chicago this morning

Oliver and Edwin Magner, hammer boys in the Pittsburg blacksmith shop, are off duty today on account of sickness.

Pittsburg Engineer H. Kelker, who has been off duty for treatment for some disease of the ears, went out on his run today.

The locomotive department, including the 'smith shop, machine shop, boiler shop and brass foundry, of the Pittsburg shops will be closed tomorrow.

Crawford Griswald and his gang of carpenters are looking after the sanitary condition of the Pennsylvania company's property on the western division at present.

A passenger war has been inaugurated thus early in the season between the Goodrich and Huron steamship lines, boats of which ply between Chicago and Milwaukee, and the fare is down to $1 per trip.

It is stated that the Order of Railway Conductors is to come to the defense of William Wheedon, the passenger conductor on the Pennsylvania lines recently indicted, and that they will make a strong fight in his defense.

James A. Quince, formerly bookkeeper for Louis Diether & Brother, is lying quite ill at his home on South Broadway. He caught cold at a lawn social given by C. B. Wright last Tuesday and has been quite sick ever since.

The freight agents report an unusually heavy local business at present, but there is not a phenomenal run of through freight. In the latter the Wabash and the Nickel Plate lead, the Pennsylvania sending most all of its through business over the Panhandle.

R. G. Thompson, district passenger agent of the Wabash, is in receipt of one of the official souvenir badges of the twenty-sixth triennial conclave, Knights Templar, which will be worn by all the members of the order at the Boston meeting. The badge will be displayed in August Bruder's window, in the Odd Fellows' block. Accompanying it will be a button, emblematic of the "Boston Baked Bean," which will also be given out as a souvenir at the conclave.

District Passenger Agent R. G. Thompson, of the Wabash, has furnished the local Knights Templar with an illustrated guide of the city of Boston and the route over which the Knights will pass en route to the triennial conclave in August. It's a very interesting folder, even to one who does not contemplate the trip. Another interesting pamphlet issued by the Wabash is for the accommodation of those who will attend the Christian Endeavor convention, which will be held in Boston July 10 to 14 inclusive.

The Pennsylvania has created a new position, which will be filled by D. H. Caldwallder, who will be connected with the office of General Superintendent Shepherd, at Philadelphia. Mr. Caldwallder's special work will be to look after matters which affect the comfort and convenience of patrons of the Pennsylvania road. Employes are instructed to furnish him with all the information possible, that none of the benefits of the road to its patrons may be overlooked. This is a new departure in railroad circles, the Pennsylvania being the first to adopt such a measure to insure the comforts of travel to passengers.

The Order of Railway Conductors, in session at Atlanta, yesterday exonerated Grand Secretary W. P. Daniels of the serious charges made against him by the Camden, N. J., division, and ordered the division disciplined for circulating the charges. In conversation with a reporter of the Atlanta Constitution, previous to the investigation, Mr. Daniels said: "I have nothing to say over the matter; I was in a mining company. That's right. I am still president of the company. When I bought it the stock was at 35. Now it is 40. I was mayor of my city. That's right. I was mayor two years. It is true that I was a candidate for congress. I have always tried to do what I could for my party. These charges? Well, I suppose some of the boys thought I was getting along too good. That can be easily understood. I regret nothing I have done. For several years I have filled the position of secretary. I have watched it grow from a weak, tottering organization to one of the strongest in the United States. I am prepared to answer all that can be brought against me. I called for the investigation. It has come. Now let them show what they have to."

REMARKABLY PRESERVED.

Life-Like Features Retained After Years of Burial.

WABASH, Ind., May 24—Mrs. Sarah Dawes, an old Friend Quaker, who came to America in 1852, and whose husband was for many years a cashier in the Bank of England, died near this city of paralysis twenty-four years ago. She was seventy-eight years of age. She was buried in a metallic casket, and Thursday her relatives decided to exhume the remains and re-inter in another cemetery. The grave was opened and the casket raised and moved. By curiosity Lindley Dawes, a grandson, removed the metallic face plate to view the remains, expecting to find nothing but a heap of ashes. To his surprise, he saw through the glass the form and features of his dead relative precisely as they were at the time of burial. The arms were folded across the breast, and in one hand was the pair of spectacles which she held when laid away. The face was almost unchanged, with the exception of a slight discoloration above the eyes. Other relatives and friends were summoned to view the body, and all marveled at the remarkable state of preservation in which the corpse was found. It is probable that if air had been admitted to the casket the body would have crumbled.

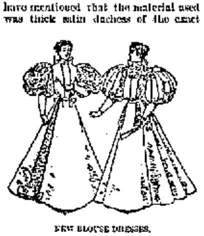
FREAKS OF FASHION.

SOME ARE UGLY, AND SOME ARE REALLY BEAUTIFUL.

Many Variations of the Blouse—Heavy Billow Crepons Made Crosswise—Some New Plaid Silks—Description of a Mourning Gown For a Young Lady.

[Special Correspondence.]

NEW YORK, May 20.—Some of the styles shown now are really beautiful, but others are so ugly as to be startling and to attract the eyes by sheer force, and one wonders that such things can be. For instance, there was a gown of the most pronounced paquin style, which means that it is wide and full and stiff and laid in deep folds, as far as the skirt is concerned. No trimming mars its smoothness around the bottom. I should have mentioned that the material used was thick satin duchess of the exact shade of bessemer steel. The lower parts of the sleeves were of the satin, while the enormous puffs were of the deepest magenta. There was also a band of the magenta color down the front of the waist. Another gown nearly like that was of light terra cotta glace, with a blouse effect, to the front of the waist, while all the rest was cut en princesse. On the waist and hanging below it for a short distance were lace set pieces of trimming. The collar was of magenta silk, with a violet shade. The sleeves were enormous puffs of magenta silk, plaited in such a manner as to resemble muskmelons. These puffs reached below the elbow and were stuffed to keep them in position. They must be interesting to wear in hot weather.



NEW BLOUSE DRESSES.

The blouse has more variations than I can mention, almost every dress for whatever occasion having this distinguishing feature. There was a pale coachman's drab tailor blouse gown. The skirt hung in one stiff, unbroken circle, except in the back, where there were three burnoose plaits which swelled out at the bottom like tin horns, and which were almost as stiff. Down the right side was a band of brocaded satin in green and old rose, and this was finished with two bows at the bottom. Two sets of loops were fastened at the sides of the waist, and these as well as those at the bottom were of old rose velvet. The blouse had one fold, and on the waist were two narrow lines of gold braid and two flat frosted gold buttons. The upper parts of the sleeves were of the brocade.

Among the quirks and pranks of fashion is one now for making those heavy billow crepons crosswise, which is not at all pretty. Some few very accomplished dressmakers make up these heavy rolled crepons so that the twill is diagonal. The effect is better this way, but one should be very sure of her capacity before venturing on this. There are some brown semitransparent crepons, and these are laid in folds over yellow silk. The yellow shows through the meshes with a decidedly rich effect.

There are some new plaid silks, and they are pretty—more, lovely. The groundwork is white or cream color, and the plaid is laid over the surface by means of light lines in delicate colors. The silk is always heavy and rich and the lines thrown up in satin finish. These are usually made into fancy waists alone, but often a whole skirt is seen of the same, and in that case there is a belt or yoke or other trimming made of velvet of a dark shade of the darkest color in the plaid.

Today I saw a mourning gown suitable for a young girl who has lost a parent. The dress itself is of dead luster bengaline, and the skirt was cut in the approved circular style, and it was bordered 12 inches deep around the bottom with English crape. On the right side of the skirt low down there was a large butterfly bow of crape, and there was another on the bust, reaching clear across. Around the waist there was a wide belt of crape, which tied in the back, with long ends. There was a cuff of the same around the neck, and a puffing around the elbows under the upper puff of silk. This is not too dressy for morning nor too severe for youth.

HIS NAME TO BE HONORED.

A Monument to Be Erected to the Memory of Francis Scott Key.

[Special Correspondence.]

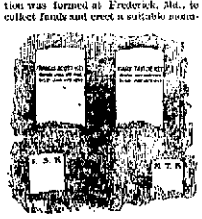
BALTIMORE, May 20.—Visitors entering the cemetery at Frederick City, Md., notice a well worn path leading to the center of the grounds, where a tall flagpole stands, from which usually floats a large American flag. Near its base are the humbly marked graves of Francis Scott Key and Mary Taylor Key, his wife.

It may not be generally known, but the author of "The Star Spangled Banner" formerly lived near this place, at Pipe Creek.

While Francis Scott Key wrote and published a volume of poems his fame will rest secure on the merits of the one matchless national hymn with which his name will be forever associated.

On the 13th of September, 1814, Francis Scott Key visited the British fleet, off Fort McHenry, near Baltimore, to arrange for an exchange of prisoners and was detained for a time, lest he should report the preparations then in progress for an attack upon the fort. The "bombs bursting in the air" which he saw that night gave him inspiration to compose the poem which has done more to waken true patriotism than any other which has yet been written.

Since his death, in 1843, little has been done to honor his memory. Several years ago—about 1890—an association was formed at Frederick, Md., to collect funds and erect a suitable monument, but the approaching civil war prevented its accomplishment. The funds then collected were carefully preserved, however, and in 1894 the Key Monument association was reorganized, and active measures were adopted for the early completion of this long delayed tribute to the memory of the loved poet.



THE FRANCIS SCOTT KEY GRAVES.

The governor of Maryland has strongly indorsed this association and its plans and has appealed to the governors of all other states to give this work their approval and assistance. The association asks the schools of the entire country to incorporate some recognition of the services of Francis Scott Key in the patriotic exercises of Flag day, June 14, and to forward to them small contributions for the monument fund. They propose to place the names of all donors in the crypt of the monument. To assist in such exercises they have prepared a pamphlet containing many interesting things about Francis Scott Key, which may be obtained free by any one who will send a 2 cent stamp for postage to the Key Monument association of Frederick, Md.

The Hairy Armadillo.

VILLA HAYES, Paraguay, May 2.—In all the history of mammalian there is not one so curiously cunning as the hairy armadillo. It is found all over the valley of La Plata, in South America. Because of its peculiarly interesting method of obtaining food it is probably the most interesting animal that naturalists seek for, but it is very seldom that an opportunity offers to watch the armadillo killing its prey.

Recently Mr. W. H. Hudson, C. M. Z. S., was favored with such an example, and it was of such a curious nature that it deserves to be retold. One day, while hunting up specimens close to Bahia-Blanca, near Cape Corrientes, in the Argentine Republic, his attention was drawn to a peculiar duet of hissing and grunting, as if a big snake and a hog were in encounter. But it was not so. A small black snake, probably three feet long, was coiled up on a stone a short distance away. Suddenly a hairy armadillo appeared on the scene and trotted directly toward the snake.

It was then the hissing and snorting began. But the snake, in apparent terror, at once began to glide away. Instantly the armadillo rushed toward it and squatted upon the snake's body, the sharp shell-like body covering holding the reptile tightly while the process of killing it went on.

It happened in this way: The armadillo at once set to work to kill or benumb his victim. He swayed his body backward and forward and sideways "with a regular sawing motion," thus lacerating the snake at every movement with the keen edges of his bony covering. The little snake struggled to be free and bit savagely at its aggressor, but the bites made no impression, and very soon the poor reptile gave up the unequal contest, and when the armadillo ceased his seesaw motion the snake was dead and "very much mangled."

The armadillo at once began to feast upon his dead victim. He took the tail in his mouth and slowly progressed toward the head; but, finding that about one third of the snake sufficed his appetite, he left the remainder and trotted away. The peculiarity of this performance was that a moment afterward the naturalists could find no trace of the armadillo.

To Typewriter Operators. ✚

A HANDSOME PREMIUM FOR YOUR OPINION.

The HAMMOND TYPEWRITER Company believing that a vast fund of valuable information is to be obtained from those who, by training and experience, are best qualified to judge of what should constitute a perfect typewriter, courteously invites all typewriter operators, irrespective of the make of machine they may use, to submit a concise statement of what in their opinion are the greatest requisites in a typewriter, and what improvement is most needed, with their reasons therefor. No letter containing mention of any make of machine will be considered, as the object of this contest is to learn what operators want, not to advertise any special make of machine.

The following prizes will be awarded to the three contestants, who, in the estimate of a Committee of Experts, designate the best and greatest requisites, and who offer the most convincing arguments in support of their claims.

First Prize—One of our new 1895 model Ideal or Universal Hammond Typewriters, in antique oak case, complete with one ribbon and three typeshuttles, value $100.00.

Second Prize—Fifty Dollars in Gold.

Third Prize—Twenty-five Dollars in Gold.
